ABOUT THE PROGRAM:
The Leadership Institute is a leadership development program designed to help good leaders become great leaders and to face the challenges of leading public mental health/behavioral health and substance use disorder systems and services. It has been designed by the California Institute for Mental Health and the University of Southern California’s School for Policy, Planning, and Development. Current and former County Mental Health/Behavioral Health Directors, and statewide policy/advocacy organizations—CADPAAC and CMHDA have provided critical insight and guidance regarding the essential knowledge and skills required to lead complex local mental health/behavioral health and substance use disorder organizations and systems. During the course of the LI, participants are expected to identify and apply learning to selected workplace challenges. Peer consultation is embedded as a process throughout the LI to encourage the development of networks among participants to support their ongoing work.

THE FORMAT:
A small group of 35 participants will complete a total of nine days of training.

RESIDENTIAL MODULE:
The program begins with an initial three days of training scheduled for Wednesday, November 30 through Friday, December 2, 2011.
A dinner/reception will be held on the evening of Tuesday, November 29, 2011 to provide an opportunity for participants and faculty to meet each other. Participants are strongly encouraged to arrive the afternoon of Tuesday, November 29th.
